

The Overlander Family

We are looking for travel companions to share the road for a couple of days.

Since we are documentary filmmakers and overland travellers, we'd like to meet travellers that dare to step in front of the camera. Our film project is about the fascination and philosophy of independent travelling. We want you to tell us your stories while travelling remote offroad locations in your own vehicle.

Starting September 23rd, we will travel Marocco again and want to cross the border to Mauretania by end of October, ideally. Last year, we did prepare the shooting in Marocco and did some location scouting. We want to hear from you and your autonomous vehicle, perhaps we can meet at the Buschtaxi Meeting this year, or, Fernreisemobil meeting in Enkirch by early September.

Our website shares more background about us and a short film about the project and what we want from you:

Please, please send this link or this project call to travellers that might fit into the picture or travel this fall. Thank you!
